

node_stack

The diagram illustrates a stack data structure, which is a Last In, First Out (LIFO) container. It is represented as a vertical column of three rectangular cells. The top cell is labeled 'node_stack', indicating it contains the most recently added element. The two cells below it are empty, representing the rest of the stack. The entire structure is enclosed in a black border.